

This menu is designed to offer your teashop with the freshest and more interesting teas from Taiwan. Here you can find our selection of wulong and black teas alongside their prices per kilogram and a look of their leaves. Feel free to send us any question or request, we are here to help you.

Wulong teas

Lishan wulong

Elegant as the well crafted high mountain wulong. Jazmin, sweet corn and rice aromas. Ends with sweet aftertaste. Barely no bitterness and astringency. Lovely.

Jazmin Wulong

A balance taste of wulong and organic flower. Medium body. Soft and lasting jazmin aroma. Classic combination. Made of june organic jazmin and Lishan spring tea

Guifei May-2016

Medium oxidized wulong whose leaves have been bitten by beneficial bugs. Hence gives it honey-like and fruity aromas. The aging gives it stability and complexity. Enjoyable.

Lishan "3 Stars" Box Set

2022 Lishan competition tea. Selected and re-dried by Iris. Medium light body. Elegant and velvety. *300g

Dongding "3 Flowers" Box Set

Accumulated of dedication; hours of roasting; many times of evaluating. Fruity, nutty, long lasting aftertaste with calming sensation. A classic of taiwan tea. A must-try taiwan wulong tea. A 2022 Lugu competition tea. 600g

Dongding "3 Flowers" '21 Loose tea

Traditional taiwanese wulong with light oxidation and roasting. Milk chocolate, chinese medicinal herb aromas. Long lasting aftertaste with calming sensation.

Shanlinxi wulong

Grows in the mists. Rich and enjoyable, gives a sensation of being in the bamboo and pine forest. Barely no bitterness and astringency

Ying Xiang wulong

Made from TTESNo. 20, nickname Ying Xiang. Abundant and elegant. Floral yet mellow spreads out instantly. Very limited selection.

Sijichun wulong

Intense floral aromas. Easy to appreciate. This wulong is ideal to begin discovering taiwanese tea. Low astringency and low bitternes. Highly recommend for cold brew.

Jinxuan wulong

Original natural "Milky Wulong". Slightly roasted. Attracting aromas like warm butter and butter cookies.

